By VAN CLEVE.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—It has been conceded that a first class trust is the best thing out from a financial standpoint, but they are not the only thing. It has been equally well established within the past few days that the next best thing is to be a "trust buster." The committee on expenditures in the department of justice is responsible for the evidence of this fact being laid before the public. The chairman, Mr. Beall of Texas, was aware that justice is a forlorn and an expensive hope very often, but he didn't have the figures just at hand to make an effective demonstration of his theory, so he called upon the department to supply them.

He was hardly prepared for what he got. During the reign of "Teddy the Terrible" some of the unsolded sabers in the department of justice were buckled on and unsheathed in the bright sunlight of publicity, and, marching to a tremendous drum beat, the army of legal lights moved on the corporate hosts. The engagements were to be numerous, but the number of slain were never reported and the prisoners were never buried with the prisoners taken. When Mr. Taft succeeded to the presidency the army was reorganized and the movement continued with less glamour. A few weeks ago a two-edged decision was secured in the Standard Oil case, and this was closely followed by one a little more favorable in the case against the tobacco trust. These were among the pioneers in the trust business and had been long standing offenders.

Now the house is counting the cost. The government has an attorney general and an assistant to the attorney general. It has a solicitor general and four assistant attorneys general. It has an assistant attorney general for each of the various governmental departments and numerous department attorneys in all these departments. It has a long list of those just denominated as "attorneys," another long list denominated as "assistant attorneys," and a third list known as "special assistant attorneys." Then there are clerks almost without number in the department of justice who are lawyers. In addition to this force the government has its district attorneys in every state in the Union. These men draw all the way from modest salaries for the clerks up to $10,000 per year, and are supposed to give all their time and thought to the interests of the government.

Now somebody says this force is sufficient to break up all the trusts yet born, but there he is wrong. From the figures submitted by the department of justice, it seems that it has been necessary to hire a lot of "special assistants" in every important case for which the government has paid since March 5, 1909, nearly one million dollars. These figures do not include anything paid to them during the Roosevelt administration, but are confined entirely to the payments made since Mr. Taft took the reins of government. The figures, to be accurate, are $845,184.56 for the two years, and this does not include any salaries paid to regular government attorneys.

Some of the more important of those who took down these fat fees are as follows: Henry L. Stimson, for services in the sugar fraud cases, $33,320.87, and W. T. Dennison, for services in the sugar fraud cases, $25,025.00, making a total of $108,345.87 paid these two lawyers during the last two years. Mr. Stimson is now secretary of war. Last year he was a candidate for governor of New York. Prior to his employment as a special attorney in the sugar cases he was United States district attorney for the southern district of New York at a salary of $10,000 per year. When these sugar scandals were developed Mr. Stimson resigned his position as a district attorney and was employed as a special attorney with the above very gratifying results.

Next comes Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, who received $48,917.13 for his efforts in the Union Pacific and Standard Oil cases. His law partner, C. A. Severance, received for assisting in the same cases $28,237.91, making a total this firm received of $77,155.04. And this last little pick up did not interfere seriously with their regular practice. Mr. Kellogg is Republican national committeeman from the state of Minnesota, and has been criticised in some quarters because he is also attorney for the steel trust in his state. This may yet involve him in unpleasant explanations.

James C. McReynolds has also been a fortunate chap. For his services in the tobacco trust cases he has received during the past two years the neat sum of $35,516.57. Mr. Reynolds was an assistant attorney general, but resigned his position and was appointed a "special" in the tobacco case. This was probably the most fortunate financial move he ever made.

S. R. Rush had not risen to the dignity of an assistant and was just a law clerk in the department, so he resigned and was appointed a "special" in charge of some land fraud cases. He has not only secured a standing in his profession, but has pulled down $19,583.17 besides as a result.

Condemnation proceedings appear also to be an expensive luxury in Washington. Two lawyers have collected $23,200 for their part in condemning some lots here in the city. Uncle Joe Cannon's last congress put through a bill to build a boulevard 150 feet wide from the Peace Monument, at the foot of Capital Hill, to the union station. There are so many streets here now that there's but little room for houses, but this proposed boulevard will run right through two or three solid blocks of valuable buildings, and, if it costs to condemn them in proportion to the figures given above (which do not include $22,500 paid to appraisers), it will be necessary to negotiate another bond issue.

Then, we must not forget the Right Honorable Wade Ellis of Ohio. He was appointed assistant to the attorney general, a position very close to the throne. When things began to break badly in Ohio Mr. Ellis was persuaded that it was his duty to resign his position and go back to Ohio and resume his law practice and incidentally save the state for the administration. Mr. Ellis did so last year, and during the year was called upon to appear in court and argue some cases, and thus picked up a little pocket change to the extent of $11,717.73. He was too busy trying to patch up political fences in his state to take part in the preparation of the cases, it is said, but he found time to make some arguments.

He didn't do so badly, either, as a political savior, for Ohio now has a Democratic governor, legislature, United States senator and sixteen out of twenty-one congressmen are Democrats. Democrats generally are crying "viva Ellis," and hope he will be retained as Mr. Taft's chief adviser and political manager in Ohio.

These are mere samples of a long list. It is merely a new illustration from a different source, showing that during the last few years there has been the most profligate waste in every department of the government and in everything that congress touched. All that was necessary was to have a "special" political or personal bill. The result of this favoritism has been to disorganize the regular force of attorneys. They are giving the government their whole time at moderate salaries as a rule, while "specials" are going ahead with their regular practice and picking rich plums from the government tree at the same time. These reckless expenditures come from another one of those special funds placed at the disposition of a department by congress. When money is next appropriated for these emergency funds there will be some strings attached to it.

SHE'S THE SCHOOL'S HUMAN INDEX

The manual training high school of Kansas City has a human directory in Miss Mary Canny, its chief clerk, who remembers accurately the names, addresses and telephone numbers of its 1,806 students.

Miss Canny is a sister of Miss Elenore Canny, supervisor of the playgrounds of Kansas City, who recently visited friends in Maryville.

The Kansas City Times of Tuesday said:

Miss Mary Canny, chief clerk of the Manual Training high school, will tell you if you ask that her memory is anything except marvelous. But just ask some of her many friends and they will say that she can tell you "off-hand" the names, addresses and telephone numbers of practically all of the 1,806 students of the high school last year. Also they will tell you that at the school she is known as the school directory, and within her brain are stored the names of those 1,806 pupils' parents their occupations and other incidentals which may be demanded.

Members of the office force of the Manual school say they would lose much time by having to refer to the telephone book and city directory for addresses which Miss Canny can give immediately from memory.

A reporter wanted to find out the names of the 201 seniors of the school during the Christmas holidays last year. The school was locked up, the names could not be found, but at last he called upon Miss Canny for them. "Get out your pencil," she said. The names were forthcoming.

Here is another story about Miss Canny's memory of the names of students: A timid freshman entered the school several years ago. Miss Canny received his entrance card and assigned him a locker for his coat and hat. The freshman forgot the incident and Miss Canny, but three weeks later he was forced to go to the school office.

"What is it today, Robert," she asked. In trying to remember where he had seen the questioner the freshman forgot what he had entered the office for.

Miss Canny has been chief clerk of the school ten years, and during that time about fifteen thousand students have been enrolled and some two thousand graduated. While not remembering all of them, it is safe to say that she has not forgotten as many as half. Her work keeps her in close touch with attendance, tardiness, absence and study work of all of the pupils and her close attention to that is to what she attributes her memory.

"Why, there's nothing remarkable about my remembering those names," she said yesterday afternoon. "There is always some little thing that happens that makes the name of a person cling. For instance, a pupil will be tardy for a week or two, or below in his grades or something else. There is nothing easier to remember than that."

"I hardly ever look in the telephone book for a number," Miss Elenore Canny, her sister, spoke up. "I just ask Mary and she knows nine times out of ten."

TAFT AT YALE COMMENCEMENT

President Makes Short Address
at Graduating Exercises.

New Haven, June 22.—The 210th
commencement was held at Yale university, when diplomas were awarded to 897 men who had completed courses. President Taft joined the members of the corporation, of which he is a fellow.

The alumni dinner was held in the memorial hall. President Hadley presided, at his right hand, President Taft.

President Taft declared that the decisions of the United States supreme court in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases have pointed a clear road over which the honest business man can travel in safety. It was the first public reference the president has made to these decisions.

"I believe these decisions," said the president, "have done and will continue to do great good to all the business of the country and that they have laid down a line of distinction
that it is not difficult for honest business men to follow."

DAINGEROUS DRUG FRAUDS

Taft Arraigns Certain Manufacturers in Special Message.

ASKS AMENDMENT OF LAW.

Executive Says Misbranding of Medicines as to Their Curative Qualities Should Be Prohibited and Urges Prompt Action.

Washington, June 22.—In a message prepared in New York and transmitted through the White House to congress, President Taft arraigned the manufacturers of what he denounced "dangerous drug frauds" and urged congress to amend at this session the pure food and drug law to strengthen that act in vital points of weakness recently pointed out by decisions of the United States supreme court.

President Taft believes that unless the law is amended, forthwith the country will again be flooded by "inferior nostrums" and "cure alls," which were common before the pure food law first was enacted.

President's Message.

The president, in his message, says: "To the Senate and House of Representatives: Your attention is respectfully called to the necessity of passing at this session an amendment to the food and drugs act of June 20, 1906, which will supplement existing law and prevent the shipment in interstate and foreign commerce and the manufacture and sale within the territories and the District of Columbia of worthless nostrums labeled with misstatements of fact as to their physiological action—misstatements false and misleading even in the knowledge of those who make them.

"On June 20, 1906, after an agitation of twenty years, the food and drugs act passed by the Fifty-ninth congress received the approval of the president and became law.

"The law has been vigorously enforced. More than 2,000 cases have been prepared for criminal prosecution against the shippers of adulterated or misbranded foods and drugs, and seizures have been made of more than 700 shipments of such articles. More than two-thirds of these cases have been begun since March 4, 1909. Of the criminal cases, more than 800 have terminated favorably to the government. In every case in which the food seized was deleterious to health it was destroyed.

Defect in Law.

"The supreme court has held in a recent decision (United States against O. A. Johnson, opinion May 29, 1911), that the food and drugs act does not cover the knowing false labeling of nostrums as to curative effect of physiological action, and that inquiry under this salutary statute does not by its terms extend in any case to the infelicity of medicine to work the cures claimed for them on the labels. It follows that, without fear of punishment under the law, unscrupulous persons, knowing the medicines to have no curative or remedial value for the diseases for which they indicate them, may ship in interstate commerce medicine composed of substances possessing any slight physiological action and labeled as cures for diseases which, in the present state of science, are recognized as incurable.

POWDER TRUST MUST DISSOLVE

Government Wins Its Suit Against Big Combine.

OPINION BY JUDGE LANNING.

Finding Handed Down at Wilmington, Del.—Twenty-Eight of Forty-Three Defendants Found Guilty—Other Fifteen Are Innocent.

Wilmington, Del., June 22.—The United States circuit court for the district of Delaware handed down a decision declaring that the alleged powder trust, which is dominated by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company, is a combination in restraint of interstate commerce in powder and other explosives, in violation of section 1 of the Sherman anti-trust law; that it attempted to monopolize and has monopolized a part of such commerce in violation of section 2 of the same law, and decreeing that the combination shall be enjoined from continuing this violation and that it shall be dissolved.

The action against the powder trust was begun by the government in 1907, and was directed against forty-three corporate and individual defendants. The suit as to fifteen of the defendants was dismissed because some of the concerns are out of existence or it was not shown that they were parties to the combination.

In an interlocutory decree the court fixed Oct. 16 as the date to hear both sides as to the nature of the injunction to be granted and consider a plan for dissolving the combination. "To the end that this court may ascertain and determine upon a plan or method for such dissolution which will not deprive the defendants of the opportunity to recreate out of the elements now composing said combination a new condition which shall be honestly in harmony with and not repugnant to the law."

Concerning the final decree to be issued, the court says:

"To stop the business of the combination immediately might be attended with very disastrous consequences. The defendants, or some of them, for example, furnish military and ordnance powders to the United States government. We understand, also, that they furnish explosives used in the construction of the Panama canal. Their ability to continue so to do should not be destroyed before the expiration of a reasonable time for adjusting their business to the changed conditions."

HAVEMEYER DEFENDS TRUST

Son of Late Sugar Magnate Approves "Reasonable Combinations."

Washington, June 22.—Elaborating his defense on trusts and the combinations of sugar companies, Horace Havemeyer, son of the late H. O. Havemeyer, organizer of the so-called sugar trust, continued his testimony before the house sugar committee.

The witness limited his approval, however, to "reasonable combinations." He declared that combinations were reasonable when they took in small companies that were liable to go into bankruptcy. He classed the National Sugar Refining company, in which he is seeking in the courts to establish his control, as "reasonable."

Mr. Havemeyer expressed a belief that the consumer of sugar had benefited by the creation of the combinations because the producing cost had been reduced.

The price of sugar is governed by the law of supply and demand," declared Mr. Havemeyer.

England is the cheapest place in the world in which sugar may be purchased the witness said.

"Why is that, because of free trade?" inquired Representative Fordney.

"Well, I don't know—I haven't made a study of that," remarked the young millionaire.

DAY PICTURE BILL AGAIN

Artist Was Paid on March 22, 1904, and Voucher Is Dated Jan. 18, 1904.

Washington, June 22.—Albert Rosenthal, the painter who created a sensation recently by testifying before the house state department expenditures committee that he received only $790 for a portrait of former Secretary Day, voucher for which was for $2,450, appeared before the committee again. He said he received his money on March 22, 1904. The voucher for $2,450 was dated Jan. 18, 1904, and Thomas Morrison, disbursing clerk of the state department, has testified that he paid former Chief Clerk Michael the full amount on that date. Ira K. Moore of the company who furnished a $60 frame for the Day portrait, told the committee that his bill was not paid until some time in June, 1904.

Mr. Michael, now consul general at Calcutta, may be called upon to explain the delay in paying the bills and tell what he knows about the voucher.

Mr. Rosenthal identified a statement of explanation attached to the portrait voucher, saying that he had written it for Mr. Denby, then chief clerk of the state department, in 1906, when the discrepancy between the amount authorized by the voucher and the amount paid was discovered. He was sure the date Feb. 22, 1906, written on the document, was correct.

The C. W. B. M. of the Christian church will hold an ice cream social on the court house lawn Saturday afternoon and evening, June 24th.

RECIPROCITY IS THREATENED

Democrats Get Republican Support in Senate.

INSTRUCT FINANCE COMMITTEE

Must Report Wool Measure Back for Action Before July 10—Sixteen Republican Senators Vote With the Opposition on Point.

Washington, June 22.—The throwing of the Democratic wool tariff revision bill into the senate drove the insurgent Republicans of that body into an open coalition with the Democrats, in a demand for a general revision of the tariff, and brought about the threatened crisis in the finance committee's control of the senate. At the end of a bitter fight, a resolution by Senator Gore, requiring the finance committee to report back the wool bill before July 10, was passed by a vote of 39 to 18.

The fate of the Canadian reciprocity bill is today in doubt. Western Republicans who have fought the reciprocity measure, taking up challenges thrown down by the Democratic leaders, followed each other in rapid succession with ultimatums invariably to the effect that before the reciprocity bill is permitted to pass a Republican senate will be forced to undertake a revision of other schedules of the tariff, including more than the woolen revision bill and the free list bill, which have gone through the house of representatives.

16 Republicans Vote With Minority.

Of the affirmative votes cast for the Gore motion overthrowing the finance committee, sixteen were Republicans. They were: Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Brown, Clapp, Crawford, Cummins, Dixon, Gronna, Jones, Kenyon, LaFollette, Nelson, Poindexter, Townsend and Works.

This included the full insurgent strength of thirteen and, in addition, Senators Jones, Nelson and Townsend. Senator Myers was the only Democrat voting with the Republicans against the motion.

Senators Nelson, Cummins, Crawford, LaFollette, Jones and other Republican insurgents from northwestern states, who have opposed the reciprocity bill because of alleged discrimination against the agricultural interests, declared that before a vote would be permitted on the reciprocity bill they would demand that the other schedules of the tariff be taken up, and would insist upon an attempt to tack many of them upon the reciprocity measure.

Speak on Reciprocity.

Speeches on reciprocity were made in both branches of congress. Senator Root, announcing that he favored the agreement, advocated and explained his amendment to the wool pulp and paper provision of the bill, around which amendment the reciprocity fight has centered and which amendment President Taft opposes on the ground that it might jeopardize the whole agreement. Republican Leader Mann in the house attacked the Root amendment as a violation of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Senator Hitchcock also spoke in opposition to the Root amendment. He declared that if the amendment was adopted it would nullify section 2 of the agreement.

Wool Bill Starts Fight.

The fight began the instant that the wool revision bill appeared from the house of representatives. Senator Gore, apparently with the approval of Democratic leaders, moved that the finance committee be instructed to report the bill back to the senate on or before July 10. It was carried by a vote of 39 to 18, sixteen Republicans voting with the Democrats. The admitted purpose of the motion was to prevent the finance committee from holding the bill indefinitely or from failing to report it at all.

The result of the Gore motion was to disrupt so completely the lines that have formed in the senate that it cannot be foretold now when a vote can be reached on the reciprocity bill, or whether enough votes can be mustered to pass it.

SENATE CHANGE REJECTED

House Turns Down Bristow Amendment to Direct Elections Measure.

Washington, June 22.—The house of representatives, by a vote of 172 to 112, practically a strict party vote, refused to concur in the Bristow amendment adopted by the senate to the house resolution providing for the direct election of senators. The Bristow amendment leaves with congress the power to regulate the time and manner of holding these elections, while the resolution passed by the house during the early days of the present session would change the constitution so that "the time, places and manner of holding elections for senators shall be as prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof."

Representative Sells (Rep., Tenn.) voted against the amendment. While Burke (Dem., Wis.) voted for it. Representative Berger (Soc., Wis.) voted for it. The resolution, therefore, is returned to the senate for reconsideration by that body as to whether it will reverse its former action.

SAGE AND SULPHUR CURES DANDRUFF

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Itching Scalp Quickly Stopped.

This applies to Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, for if it does not do exactly what is claimed for it, the sales would naturally drop off. However, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy does "make good," as evidenced by its daily increasing sales. Druggists say that this preparation gives the best satisfaction of any hair remedy ever sold. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It removes dandruff, strengthens the hair, gives new life to dull or parched hair and gradually restores gray hair to natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent, Koch Pharmacy.

ATTORNEY FEES BIG

NEARLY A MILLION DOLLARS
PAID TO SPECIAL COUNSEL.

AN ARMY OF LAWYERS

Attorneys on Government Pay Rolls Include Attorney General and Assistants Without Number.

By VAN CLEVE.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—It has been conceded that a first class trust is the best thing out from a financial standpoint, but they are not the only thing. It has been equally well established within the past few days that the next best thing is to be a "trust buster." The committee on expenditures in the department of justice is responsible for the evidence of this fact being laid before the public. The chairman, Mr. Beall of Texas, was aware that justice is a forlorn and an expensive hope very often, but he didn't have the figures just at hand to make an effective demonstration of his theory, so he called upon the department to supply them.

He was hardly prepared for what he got. During the reign of "Teddy the Terrible" some of the unsold sabers in the department of justice were buckled on and unsheathed in the bright sunlight of publicity, and, marching to a tremendous drum beat, the army of legal lights moved on the corporate hosts. The engagements were to be numerous, but the number of slain were never reported and the prisoners were never burdened with the prisoners taken. When Mr. Taft succeeded to the presidency the army was reorganized and the movement continued with less glamour. A few weeks ago a two-edged decision was secured in the Standard Oil case, and this was closely followed by one a little more favorable in the case against the tobacco trust. These were among the pioneers in the trust business and had been long standing offenders.

Now the house is counting the cost. The government has an attorney general and an assistant to the attorney general. It has a solicitor general and four assistant attorneys general. It has an assistant attorney general for each of the various governmental departments and numerous department attorneys in all these departments. It has a long list of those just denominated as "attorneys," another long list denominated as "assistant attorneys," and a third list known as "special assistant attorneys." Then there are clerks almost without number in the department of justice who are lawyers. In addition to this force the government has its district attorneys in every state in the Union. These men draw all the way from modest salaries for the clerks up to $10,000 per year, and are supposed to give all their time and thought to the interests of the government.

Now somebody says this force is sufficient to break up all the trusts yet born, but there he is wrong. From the figures submitted by the department of justice, it seems that it has been necessary to hire a lot of "special assistants" in every important case for which the government has paid since March 5, 1909, nearly one million dollars. These figures do not include anything paid to them during the Roosevelt administration, but are confined entirely to the payments made since Mr. Taft took the reins of government. The figures, to be accurate, are $845,184.56 for the two years, and this does not include any salaries paid to regular government attorneys.

Some of the more important of those who took down these fat fees are as follows: Henry L. Stimson, for services in the sugar fraud cases, $83,320.87, and W. T. Dennison, for services in the sugar fraud cases, $25,025.00, making a total of $108,345.87 paid these two lawyers during the last two years. Mr. Stimson is now secretary of war. Last year he was a candidate for governor of New York. Prior to his employment as a special attorney in the sugar cases he was United States district attorney for the southern district of New York at a salary of $10,000 per year. When these sugar scandals were developed Mr. Stimson resigned his position as a district attorney and was employed as a special attorney with the above very gratifying results.

Next comes Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, who received $48,917.13 for his efforts in the Union Pacific and Standard Oil cases. His law partner, C. A. Severance, received for assisting in the same cases $28,237.91, making a total this firm received of $77,155.04. And this last little pick up did not interfere seriously with their regular practice. Mr. Kellogg is Republican national committeeman from the state of Minnesota, and has been criticised in some quarters because he is also attorney for the steel trust in his state. This may yet involve him in unpleasant explanations.

James C. McReynolds has also been a fortunate chap. For his services in the tobacco trust cases he has received during the past two years the neat sum of $35,516.57. Mr. Reynolds was an assistant attorney general, but resigned his position and was appointed a "special" in the tobacco case. This was probably the most fortunate financial move he ever made.

S. R. Rush had not risen to the dignity of an assistant and was just a law clerk in the department, so he resigned and was appointed a "special" in charge of some land fraud cases. He has not only secured a standing in his profession, but has pulled down $19,593.17 besides as a result.

Condemnation proceedings appear also to be an expensive luxury in Washington. Two lawyers have collected $23,200 for their part in condemning some lots here in the city. Uncle Joe Cannon's last congress put through a bill to build a boulevard 150 feet wide from the Peace Monument, at the foot of Capital Hill, to the union station. There are so many streets here now that there's but little room for houses, but this proposed boulevard will run right through two or three solid blocks of valuable buildings, and, if it costs to condemn them in proportion to the figures given above (which do not include $22,500 paid to appraisers), it will be necessary to negotiate another bond issue.

Then, we must not forget the Right Honorable Wade Ellis of Ohio. He was appointed assistant to the attorney general, a position very close to the throne. When things began to break badly in Ohio Mr. Ellis was persuaded that it was his duty to resign his position and go back to Ohio and resume his law practice and incidentally save the state for the administration. Mr. Ellis did so last year, and during the year was called upon to appear in court and argue some cases, and thus picked up a little pocket change to the extent of $11,717.73. He was too busy trying to patch up political fences in his state to take part in the preparation of the cases, it is said, but he found time to make some arguments.

He didn't do so badly, either, as a political savior, for Ohio now has a Democratic governor, legislature, United States senator and sixteen out of twenty-one congressmen are Democrats. Democrats generally are crying "viva Ellis," and hope he will be retained as Mr. Taft's chief adviser and political manager in Ohio.

These are mere samples of a long list. It is merely a new illustration from a different source, showing that during the last few years there has been the most profligate waste in every department of the government and in everything that congress touched. All that was necessary was to have a "special" political or personal bill. The result of this favoritism has been to disorganize the regular force of attorneys. They are giving the government their whole time at moderate salaries as a rule, while "specials" are going ahead with their regular practice and picking rich plums from the government tree at the same time. These reckless expenditures come from another one of those special funds placed at the disposition of a department by congress. When money is next appropriated for these emergency funds there will be some strings attached to it.

SHE'S THE SCHOOL'S HUMAN INDEX

The manual training high school of Kansas City has a human directory in Miss Mary Canny, its chief clerk, who remembers accurately the names, addresses and telephone numbers of its 1,806 students.

Miss Canny is a sister of Miss Elenore Canny, supervisor of the playgrounds of Kansas City, who recently visited friends in Maryville.

The Kansas City Times of Tuesday said:

Miss Mary Canny, chief clerk of the Manual Training high school, will tell you if you ask that her memory is anything except marvelous. But just ask some of her many friends and they will say that she can tell you "off-hand" the names, addresses and telephone numbers of practically all of the 1,806 students of the high school last year. Also they will tell you that at the school she is known as the school directory, and within her brain are stored the names of those 1,806 pupils' parents their occupations and other incidentals which may be demanded.

Members of the office force of the Manual school say they would lose much time by having to refer to the telephone book and city directory for addresses which Miss Canny can give immediately from memory.

A reporter wanted to find out the names of the 201 seniors of the school during the Christmas holidays last year. The school was locked up, the names could not be found, but at last he called upon Miss Canny for them. "Get out your pencil," she said. The names were forthcoming.

Here is another story about Miss Canny's memory of the names of students: A timid freshman entered the school several years ago. Miss Canny received his entrance card and assigned him a locker for his coat and hat. The freshman forgot the incident and Miss Canny, but three weeks later he was forced to go to the school office.

"What is it today, Robert," she asked. In trying to remember where he had seen the questioner the freshman forgot what he had entered the office for.

Miss Canny has been chief clerk of the school ten years, and during that time about fifteen thousand students have been enrolled and some two thousand graduated. While not remembering all of them, it is safe to say that she has not forgotten as many as half. Her work keeps her in close touch with attendance, tardiness, absence and study work of all of the pupils and her close attention to that is to what she attributes her memory.

"Why, there's nothing remarkable about my remembering those names," she said yesterday afternoon. "There is always some little thing that happens that makes the name of a person cling. For instance, a pupil will be tardy for a week or two, or below in his grades or something else. There is nothing easier to remember than that."

"I hardly ever look in the telephone book for a number," Miss Elenore Canny, her sister, spoke up. "I just ask Mary and she knows nine times out of ten."

President Makes Short Address

New Haven, June 22.—The 210th
commencement was held at Yale uni-

to 897 men who had completed
courses. President Taft joined the members of the corporation, of which he is a fellow.

The alumni dinner was held in the memorial hall. President Hadley presided, at his right hand, President
Taft.

President Taft declared that the decisions of the United States supreme court in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases have pointed a clear road over which the honest business man can travel in safety. It was the first public reference the president has made to these decisions.

"I believe these decisions," said the president, "have done and will continue to do great good to all the business of the country and that they have laid down a line of distinction
that it is not difficult for honest business men to follow."

DANGEROUS DRUG FRAUDS

Taft Arraigns Certain Manufacturers in Special Message.

ASKS AMENDMENT OF LAW.

Executive Says Misbranding of Medicines as to Their Curative Qualities Should Be Prohibited and Urges Prompt Action.

Washington, June 22.—In a message prepared in New York and transmitted through the White House to congress, President Taft arraigned the manufacturers of what he denounced "dangerous drug frauds," and urged congress to amend at this session the pure food and drug law to strengthen that act in vital points of weakness recently pointed out by decisions of the United States supreme court.

President Taft believes that unless the law is amended forthwith the country will again be flooded by "injurious nostrums" and "cure alls," which were common before the pure food law first was enacted.

President's Message.

The president, in his message, says: "To the Senate and House of Representatives: Your attention is respectfully called to the necessity of passing at this session an amendment to the food and drugs act of June 20, 1906, which will supplement existing law and prevent the shipment in interstate and foreign commerce and the manufacture and sale within the territories and the District of Columbia of worthless nostrums labeled with misstatements of fact as to their physiological action—misstatements false and misleading even in the knowledge of those who make them.

"On June 20, 1906, after an agitation of twenty years, the food and drugs act passed by the Fifty-ninth congress received the approval of the president and became law.

"The law has been vigorously enforced. More than 2,000 cases have been prepared for criminal prosecution against the shippers of adulterated or misbranded foods and drugs, and seizures have been made of more than 700 shipments of such articles. More than two-thirds of these cases have been begun since March 4, 1909. Of the criminal cases, more than 800 have terminated favorably to the government. In every case in which the food seized was deleterious to health it was destroyed.

Defect in Law.

"The supreme court has held in a recent decision (United States against O. A. Johnson, opinion May 29, 1911,) that the food and drugs act does not cover the knowing false labeling of nostrums as to curative effect of physiological action, and that inquiry under this salutary statute does not by its terms extend in any case to the inefficiency of medicine to work the cures claimed for them on the labels. It follows that, without fear of punishment under the law, unscrupulous persons, knowing the medicines to have no curative or remedial value for the diseases for which they indicate them, may ship in interstate commerce medicine composed of substances possessing any slight physiological action and labeled as cures for diseases which, in the present state of science, are recognized as incurable.

POWDER TRUST MUST DISSOLVE

Government Wins Its Suit Against Big Combine.

OPINION BY JUDGE LANNING.

Finding Handed Down at Wilmington, Del.—Twenty-Eight of Forty-Three Defendants Found Guilty—Other Fifteen Are Innocent.

Wilmington, Del., June 22.—The United States circuit court for the district of Delaware handed down a decision declaring that the alleged powder trust, which is dominated by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company, is a combination in restraint of interstate commerce in powder and other explosives, in violation of section 1 of the Sherman anti-trust law; that it attempted to monopolize and has monopolized a part of such commerce in violation of section 2 of the same law, and decreeing that the combination shall be enjoined from continuing this violation and that it shall be dissolved.

The action against the powder trust was begun by the government in 1907, and was directed against forty-three corporate and individual defendants. The suit as to fifteen of the defendants was dismissed because some of the concerns are out of existence or it was not shown that they were parties to the combination.

In an interlocutory decree the court fixed Oct. 16 as the date to hear both sides as to the nature of the injunction to be granted and consider a plan for dissolving the combination, "to the end that this court may ascertain and determine upon a plan or method for such dissolution which will not deprive the defendants of the opportunity to recreate out of the elements now composing said combination a new condition which shall be honestly in harmony with and not repugnant to the law."

Concerning the final decree to be issued, the court says:

"To stop the business of the combination immediately might be attended with very disastrous consequences. The defendants, or some of them, for example, furnish military and ordnance powders to the United States government. We understand, also, that they furnish explosives used in the construction of the Panama canal. Their ability to continue so to do should not be destroyed before the expiration of a reasonable time for adjusting their business to the changed conditions."

HAVEMEYER DEFENDS TRUST

Son of Late Sugar Magnate Approves "Reasonable Combinations."

Washington, June 22.—Elaborating his defense on trusts and the combinations of sugar companies, Horace Havemeyer, son of the late H. O. Havemeyer, organizer of the so called sugar trust, continued his testimony before the house sugar committee.

The witness limited his approval, however, to "reasonable combinations." He declared that combinations were reasonable when they took in small companies that were liable to go into bankruptcy. He classed the National Sugar Refining company, in which he is seeking in the courts to establish his control, as "reasonable."

Mr. Havemeyer expressed a belief that the consumer of sugar had benefited by the creation of the combinations because the producing cost had been reduced.

The price of sugar is governed by the law of supply and demand," declared Mr. Havemeyer.

England is the cheapest place in the world in which sugar may be purchased the witness said.

"Why is that, because of free trade?" inquired Representative Fordney.

"Well, I don't know—I haven't made a study of that," remarked the young millionaire.

DAY PICTURE BILL AGAIN

Artist Was Paid on March 22, 1904, and Voucher Is Dated Jan. 18, 1904.

Washington, June 22.—Albert Rosenthal, the painter who created a sensation recently by testifying before the house state department expenditures committee that he received only $790 for a portrait of former Secretary Day, voucher for which was for $2,450, appeared before the committee again. He said he received his money on March 22, 1904. The voucher for $2,450 was dated Jan. 18, 1904, and Thomas Morrison, disbursing clerk of the state department, has testified that he paid former Chief Clerk Michael the full amount on that date. Ira K. Moore of the company who furnished a $60 frame for the Day portrait, told the committee that his bill was not paid until some time in June, 1904.

Mr. Michael, now consul general at Calcutta, may be called upon to explain the delay in paying the bills and tell what he knows about the voucher. Mr. Rosenthal identified a statement of explanation attached to the portrait voucher, saying that he had written it for Mr. Denby, then chief clerk of the state department, in 1906, when the discrepancy between the amount authorized by the voucher and the amount paid was discovered. He was sure the date Feb. 22, 1906, written on the document, was correct.

The C. W. B. M. of the Christian church will hold an ice cream social on the court house lawn Saturday afternoon and evening, June 24th.

Returned to Chicago.
Mrs. S. O. Dunn and children, Fayette and Elizabeth, and Miss Bess Smith, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Gilliam and Misses Lou and Jennie Garrett, left Wednesday evening for their home in Chicago.

RECIPROCITY IS THREATENED

Democrats Get Republican Support in Senate.

INSTRUCT FINANCE COMMITTEE

Must Report Wool Measure Back for Action Before July 10—Sixteen Republican Senators Vote With the Opposition on Point.

Washington, June 22.—The throwing of the Democratic wool tariff revision bill into the senate drove the insurgent Republicans of that body into an open coalition with the Democrats, in a demand for a general revision of the tariff, and brought about the threatened crisis in the finance committee's control of the senate. At the end of a bitter fight, a resolution by Senator Gore, requiring the finance committee to report back the wool bill before July 10, was passed by a vote of 39 to 18.

The fate of the Canadian reciprocity bill is today in doubt. Western Republicans who have fought the reciprocity measure, taking up challenges thrown down by the Democratic leaders, followed each other in rapid succession with ultimatums invariably to the effect that before the reciprocity bill is permitted to pass a Republican senate will be forced to undertake a revision of other schedules of the tariff, including more than the woolen revision bill and the free list bill, which have gone through the house of representatives.

16 Republicans Vote With Minority.

Of the affirmative votes cast for the Gore motion overthrowing the finance committee, sixteen were Republicans. They were: Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Brown, Clapp, Crawford, Cummins, Dixon, Gronna, Jones, Kenyon, LaFollette, Nelson, Poindexter, Townsend and Works.

This included the full insurgent strength of thirteen and, in addition, Senators Jones, Nelson and Townsend. Senator Myers was the only Democrat voting with the Republicans against the motion. Senators Nelson, Cummins, Crawford, LaFollette, Jones and other Republican insurgents from northwest states, who have opposed the reciprocity bill because of alleged discrimination against the agricultural interests, declared that before a vote would be permitted on the reciprocity bill they would demand that the other schedules of the tariff be taken up, and would insist upon an attempt to tack many of them upon the reciprocity measure.

Speak on Reciprocity.

Speeches on reciprocity were made in both branches of congress. Senator Root, announcing that he favored the agreement, advocated and explained his amendment to the wool pulp and paper provision of the bill, around which amendment the reciprocity fight has centered and which amendment President Taft opposes on the ground that it might jeopardize the whole agreement. Republican Leader Mann in the house attacked the Root amendment as a violation of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Senator Hitchcock also spoke in opposition to the Root amendment. He declared that if the amendment was adopted it would nullify section 2 of the agreement.

Wool Bill Starts Fight.

The fight began the instant that the wool revision bill appeared from the house of representatives. Senator Gore, apparently with the approval of Democratic leaders, moved that the finance committee be instructed to report the bill back to the senate on or before July 10. It was carried by a vote of 39 to 18, sixteen Republicans voting with the Democrats. The admitted purpose of the motion was to prevent the finance committee from holding the bill indefinitely or from failing to report it at all.

The result of the Gore motion was to disrupt so completely the lines that have formed in the senate that it cannot be foretold now when a vote can be reached on the reciprocity bill, or whether enough votes can be mustered to pass it.

SENATE CHANGE REJECTED

House Turns Down Bristow Amendment to Direct Elections Measure.

Washington, June 22.—The house of representatives, by a vote of 172 to 112, practically a strict party vote, refused to concur in the Bristow amendment adopted by the senate to the house resolution providing for the direct election of senators. The Bristow amendment leaves with congress the power to regulate the time and manner of holding these elections, while the resolution passed by the house during the early days of the present session would change the constitution so that "the time, places and manner of holding elections for senators shall be as prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof."

Representative Sells (Rep., Tenn.) voted against the amendment. While Burke (Dem., Wis.) voted for it. Representative Berger (Soc., Wis.) voted for it. The resolution, therefore, is returned to the senate for reconsideration by that body as to whether it will reverse its former action.

Many a Man Owes His Success to the Building of a home because it has served as an anchor and kept him in a straight line and away, possibly, from the many "get rich quick" schemes which are so plentiful today and which so often mean riches only for the smooth tongued promoters thereof. By investing IN YOUR HOME TOWN you are dealing with values and people with whom you are acquainted—people who are interested in your welfare because your success means the success of others about you, and the more successful citizens a town can boast of the better place it will be. All the lumber we have in our yards was purchased with the view of giving our customers honest values, and when you decide to build we want to tell you more about our methods.

SAGE AND SULPHUR CURES DANDRUFF

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Itching Scalp Quickly Stopped.

This applies to Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, for if it does not do exactly what is claimed for it, the sales would naturally drop off. However, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy does "make good," as evidenced by its daily increasing sales. Druggists say that this preparation gives the best satisfaction of any hair remedy ever sold. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It removes dandruff, strengthens the hair, gives new life to dull or parched hair, and gradually restores gray hair to natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent, Koch Pharmacy.
